The transmission oil is an essential constructive component of the automatic transmission. The lubricating and frictional characteristics of the oil are essential for the proper functioning and lifespan of the transmission.

Permanent filtering ensures that the positive characteristics of the oil are maintained over the entire life of the gearbox, preventing malfunctions and gearbox failures.

- single filters and filter sets with seals
- plastic oil sumps with integrated filter, permanent magnets and seals
- OE screw sets for BMW, Porsche and VAG

Use Metzger automatic transmission filters for transmission service as well as for repairs to the torque converter, mechatronics or in case of oil leaks in the transmission and oil cooler.

Best quality for maximum safety.
